This house is composed of different volumes that slide into each other, allowing a modern reading of the concept of Mediterranean architecture. All the volumes energize the outdoor spaces by adapting to the pre-existing parameters of the plot, while the materials and their textures play with the light in the interior spaces.

The essence of the interior of the house is reflected in elegant and functional lines, even if materials such as stone and glass dialogue while maintaining the Mediterranean style. The modern design of this house creates large and warm spaces. The simple geometric shapes, the use of Mediterranean materials and the optimisation of plans and volumes generate a sense of order and spatial quality. The movement of natural light in the home reveals clean and essential spaces.

Every installation in the property is of a very high standard, as evidenced by the collaboration with well-known brands whose authentic products offer both peace of mind and modern comforts that make living in style. From sandstone and electrical mechanisms to stainless steel railings and frameless safety glass, each piece is strategically located to optimize space, lighting, and views. The 5 bedroom, 5 bathroom house is less than 2 km from Arenal beach, Javea, restaurants and shops.
