Property Description

BARBEZIEUX (16) City center. Ideally located in the heart of the city, this surprising bourgeois house exudes a lot of charm. Facing south, the house offers approximately 133m² of living space and is very bright.

The first level includes the day rooms giving access to the garden.

On the first floor, three large bedrooms, bathroom and laundry room are available. The superb attic with its beautiful framework will be easily convertible to develop either additional bedrooms or work or entertainment spaces. The west wing is used as an outbuilding and has a surprising old drying room in its upper part, overlooking the garden and neighboring roofs.

Workshop/garage and boiler room on the street and cellar with well. The walled garden is a haven of peace.

Although habitable, this beautiful house will require updates in order to regain its proud appearance.

Buying French Property Just Got Easier...

The purchase process typically starts once you've visited a property with one of our agents and you made an offer on a property. Once your offer has been accepted, the property will come off the market and our local bilingual expert will liaise with you and the notaire. The compulsory searches are at the charge of the owner / vendor and are carried out at this stage.

You would have already been informed about the property taxes and legal fees (that incl. the stamp duty).

The agency fees are already included in the listed price on this document, there's no premium for the superior service we offer. You don't have to pay the deposit until the 'pre-contract' has been signed, and the 10 days cooling off period has expired. It takes an average of three months to buy a property in France.

For more information take a look at our buying guide, our french mortgage and euro currency exchange pages.

Testimonials

my-french-house was by far the best online guide I found – and I trawled them all – to buying a house in France. It answers all your first questions practically before you've thought to ask.

C. BAUER – Sunday Times

Our French property purchase and move to France were made so easy with the help and assistance of my-french-house.com. They are a committed and professional business – we highly recommend them.
