Property Description

Located on the edge of the Maladrerie district, in an architectural project initiated in 1975, this 108.34 m² (Carrez law) third-floor apartment with an elevator features two terraces (9 m² and 24 m²) and benefits from triple exposure.

The entrance opens onto a bright, dual-aspect living room opening onto the kitchen, totaling 64 m². This space is extended on either side by two terraces: the first, 23 m², faces southwest, and the second, 9 m², is planted.

Three bedrooms separated by bay windows that let in natural light, a bathroom, a shower room, and a separate toilet complete the property.

The generous volumes, the quality of the materials, and the light give this space a warm and welcoming atmosphere.

A double garage completes this property, subject to co-ownership status, which benefits from a shared garden.

Metro: Fort d'Aubervilliers, 600 meters away.

Buying French Property Just Got Easier...

The purchase process typically starts once you've visited a property with one of our agents and you made an offer on a property. Once your offer has been accepted, the property will come off the market and our local bilingual expert will liaise with you and the notaire. The compulsory searches are at the charge of the owner / vendor and are carried out at this stage.

You would have already been informed about the property taxes and legal fees (that incl. the stamp duty).

The agency fees are already included in the listed price on this document, there's no premium for the superior service we offer. You don't have to pay the deposit until the 'pre-contract' has been signed, and the 10 days cooling off period has expired. It takes an average of three months to buy a property in France.

For more information take a look at our buying guide, our french mortgage and euro currency exchange pages.

Testimonials

my-french-house was by far the best online guide I found – and I trawled them all – to buying a house in France. It answers all your first questions practically before you've thought to ask.

C. BAUER – Sunday Times

Our French property purchase and move to France were made so easy with the help and assistance of my-french-house.com. They are a committed and professional business – we highly recommend them.
